

Workshop on Taxation in Latin America

Friday, November 30th, 2018

Location: Auditorium, Institute to International Relations (IRI), University of Sao Paulo

- 9:00- 9:15 a.m. Welcome and Opening Remarks
Lorena Barberia and Marta Arretche, Department of Political Science, University of São Paulo
- 9:15-10:45 a.m. “The Political Economy of the Passage of Tax Reforms in Latin America”
Mark Hallerberg, Dean and Professor of Public Management and Political Economy, Hertie School of Governance
- 10:45- 11:00 a.m. Coffee Break
- 11:00- 12:30 p.m. Taxation in Latin America
- “Economic Diversity and Taxation in Argentina and Brazil”
Natalia Moreira
- “The Effect of Leftist Ideology on Taxation in Latin America”
Eduardo Lazzari
- "Debt and Taxes in Municipal Mexico"
Allyson Benton, CIDE and Visiting Professor, Department of Political Science, University of São Paulo
- Discussant: and Mark Hallerberg, Dean and Professor of Public Management and Political Economy, Hertie School of Governance
- 2:00-3:45 p.m. Tax Reform Policies in Brazil
- “The Brazilian Tax Reform Agenda, 1986-2016 “
Ingrid Castro, Natalia Moreira and Lorena Barberia
- “Income Tax Reforms and their Distributive Implications”
Luiz Cantarelli, Rodrigo Sartori and Lorena Barberia
- “The Legislative Agenda on Personal Income Taxation in Brazil”
Jefferson Leal
- Discussant: Mark Hallerberg, Dean and Professor of Public Management and Political Economy, Hertie School of Governance
- 3:45-4:00 p.m. Closing Remarks and Wrap-Up