From norms to intervention
International responses to humanitarian crises and human rights violations

Workshop with Prof. Martin Binder (University of Reading)

5 December 2018

University of São Paulo (USP)
Social Sciences Building (FFLCH), Room 14

Program

9:00-10:30 h  Keynote

Studying the United Nations response to civil conflicts and human rights violations

Martin Binder (Professor, Department of Politics and International Relations, University of Reading)

10:30-11:00 h  Coffee break

11:00-12:30 h  Panel 1: Perspectives from the Global South

Contestation of international principles of protection

Gustavo Macedo (PhD candidate, Department of Political Science, University of São Paulo)

The Responsibility to Protect: entrepreneurial initiative Brazil’s legislation as a form of contribution to the humanitarian action

Ana Clara Figueira Guimarães (Master student, Interinstitutional Graduate Program in International Relations “San Tiago Dantas”)

Peacebuilding: a Latin American post-colonial approach

João Victor Theodoro Gonçalves (Master student, Department of Political Science, University of São Paulo)

Discussants: Martin Binder (University of Reading) and Juliana Bigatão Puig (Professor, Department of International Relations, Federal University of São Paulo)

12:30-14:00 h  Lunch
14:00-15:30 h  Panel 2: Norm contestations

The use of force and protection narratives: the lockdown of human rights promotion on humanitarianism
Letícia Rizzotti (Master student, Interinstitutional Graduate Program in International Relations “San Tiago Dantas”)

The critical theory of recognition and humanitarian intervention: on moral motivations
Juliana César (Master student, Department of Political Science, University of São Paulo)

A prohibitive international norm on genocide and its controversial elements: preliminary formulations around accusations of genocide in Brazil
Cláudia Alvarenga Marconi (Professor, Catholic University of São Paulo)

Discussants: Martin Binder (University of Reading) and Alberto do Amaral Jr. (Professor, Law Faculty, University of São Paulo)

15:30-16:00 h  Coffee break

16:00-18:00 h  Panel 3: From norms to intervention

The impact of the UN Security Council on international responses to human rights violations: the ICC and R2P cases
Júlia Battistuzzi Penachioni (PhD candidate, Department of Political Science, University of São Paulo)

Protection of civilians: conceptual origins, evolving norms and current practice
Camila de Macedo Braga (Postdoctoral researcher, International Relations Research Center, University of São Paulo)

The need to respect human rights in the Responsibility to Protect and Responsibility while Protecting
Raquel Iraha (Graduate, Catholic University of Santos)

Access to Education during Humanitarian Crises
Melissa Martins Casagrande (Professor, Faculties of Law and International Relations, Universidade Positivo, Curitiba)

Discussants: Martin Binder (University of Reading) and Liliana Lyra Jubilut (Professor, Law Faculty, Catholic University of Santos)